The Happy Graduate Student’s Checklist

- Did I talk to my Advisor within the last week?
- There are no weekends in graduate school
- Money? I don’t think about such irrelevancies
- A paper a day keeps the Advisor away
- Data, data, do I have enough data?
- Statistics is my middle name
- Have I drawn a concept map today?
- You can’t think on an empty mind
- Goals can be achieved by prioritizing
- To prioritize, you need to know your goals
- Did I hug my organism today?
- Great ideas come to you while eating and talking, enjoy the two with your fellow students
- Does the Biology Librarian know my name?
- E-mail is good, but even too much chocolate can upset your stomach
- Gosh! You mean the Internet can actually be useful?
- Think, think, think...